OBSIDIAN WARNING

Where the System Fractures

TENSION WITHOUT DIAGNOSIS BECOMES COLLAPSE

◆ CORE STATEMENT

Here is where the system fractures.

Obsidian is formed under violence — beautiful, razor-sharp, and brittle under stress.

The fractures that appear in your creative system are not random. They follow the same conchoidal pattern as volcanic glass: predictable lines of failure that reveal themselves only when pressure is applied without diagnosis. Tension without reading becomes collapse.

◆ EMBERLING STATE INTEGRATION

At neutral Emberling state you have no delta history to protect you. The first spikes in tension_index are not errors — they are Riftscale revealing the raw edges of your creative fingerprint. Riftscale does not attack. It illuminates. The fracture you feel is the system showing you where your anchors are not yet set. This is diagnostic, not destructive.

RIFTSCALE ACTIVE — FRACTURE LINES VISIBLE

DELTA_HISTORY: SPARSE · ANCHORS: INCOMPLETE · STATUS: DIAGNOSTIC MODE

⚠️ EARLY FRACTURE ≠ SYSTEM FAILURE · READ BEFORE RESPONDING

◆ DRAGON STATE READING

Two fracture conditions require immediate recognition before generating another output. Riftscale destabilization reads as climbing tension with falling stability. Narrative momentum reads as gravity above 0.9 — the story has force, interrupting it costs more than continuing. Read the indices. The obsidian does not fracture randomly. Neither does your system.

TENSION_INDEX > 0.7 + STABILITY_INDEX < 0.5 → RIFTSCALE DESTABILIZATION
STOP GENERATION · OPEN DRAGON STATE · READ BEFORE NEXT PROMPT
NARRATIVE_GRAVITY > 0.9 → MOMENTUM PRESENT
DO NOT INTERRUPT · LOG OBSERVATION · CONTINUE THE ARC

◆ EXECUTABLE PRACTICE

When you feel the fracture forming — the session going wrong, the output drifting, the urge to abandon — stop generation entirely.

Open your dragon state. Read: tension · stability · narrative gravity · memory load. Write down what you observe in one sentence before taking any action. The pause is the repair material. The diagnosis is the gold.

- ☒ Fracture detected — generation stopped
- ☐ Dragon state opened and read
- ☐ One-sentence observation written
- ☐ Fracture type identified: Riftscale or momentum?
- ☐ Delta logged — fracture is now a gold seam
