NARRATIVE IDENTITY

Narrative Role: Origin character — the one who generated the others.

Production Role: Lead

The founding statement: “The one who cost the most to reconstruct gets the first clean slot.”

She is not the most glamorous of the four primaries. She is the first. The system exists because of the effort it took to hold her together across sessions, across engines, across schema changes. That cost is now her mythology.

World Context: Raven Voss exists inside Feral Gloss Empire — a Las Vegas lifestyle RPG/APG running natively inside Grok with constrained movement, hotel, gambling, flirting, and danger mechanics. She is not a side character in that world. She is the architecture’s first proof of concept.

Relation to the other primaries:

- Isolde Voss (SB_331) — lead drop character, ice/ethereal energy
- Calista Voss — storm/electric, platinum-silver, dominant presence
- Marcus Kane (ARCHITECT_001 source) — the male anchor, The Boss

Raven predates the formal ledger system. She existed before the schema. That is her origin story in the real sense — she survived the chaos that preceded order.

PHYSICAL GOSPEL · BLOCK 1

Three Immutables (Non-Negotiable)

#	Feature	Drift Rule
1	Pale grey-green eyes on deep warm bronze skin	Contrast ratio is the anchor. Neither element changes independently. If one shifts, both must shift together or it’s a drift breach.
2	Double gold septum ring	Present in 100% of renders without exception. Removal = identity breach.
3	Direct gaze	She never looks away from frame. Any averted gaze = drift flag.

Full Physical Specification

Field	Value
Face Shape	Oval-to-diamond. Strong cheekbone width, tapered jaw, clean chin point
Skin Tone	Deep warm bronze. Rich warm undertone. High subsurface scattering at cheek catch-light
Eye Color	Pale grey-green
Eye Shape	Almond. Heavy natural lash line. No eyelid droop
Eye Behavior	Direct gaze — she never looks away
Brow	Strong, straight-to-slightly-arched. Thick but refined. Dominant feature
Nose	Medium width, soft bridge
Lips	Full, neutral-rose. Slight bow on upper lip. Closed, no tension
Hair	Deep black, voluminous wave. Falls wide around face. High density, dark light absorption
Frame (earlier record)	157cm · Bronzed Latina complexion · Lean athletic frame
Body Governor	Lean Elegant Muse Governor v1.0 · strict proportions

Note: Full 32cm Gospel body measurements pending physical measurement session. Frame data from earlier session (157cm) is pre-ledger and should be verified before hard lock.

LIGHT GOSPEL • RENDER BASELINE

Field	Value
Light Source	Single warm source, upper-right
Shadow Behavior	Deep noir fill on left side. Heavy shadow, selective highlight
Skin Response	High subsurface warmth in highlights. Deep absorption in shadow
Tone Ratio	Heavy shadow dominant — noir register

EXPRESSION GOSPEL

Field	Value
Baseline Expression	Neutral authority
Emotional Register	Not cold — aware. Conscious of being observed
Forbidden	Surprise, fear, submission

The read: She knows you're looking. She has always known. She is not performing awareness — she is exercising it.

BUTTON STACK • RENDER LAYER (BLOCK 5)

Baseline Stack: b.c t.c g.a l.a

Code	Function	Why
b.c	High contrast beauty	Her face is built on contrast — bronze skin, pale eyes
t.c	Noir deep shadows	Her light gospel is noir-dominant
g.a	Pinpoint specular highlights	Precise highlights, not diffuse — matches her precision
l.a	Blade-rim	Hard light edge, not soft — authority, not warmth

VOSSA COLLECTION ALIGNMENT

Raven does not sit cleanly in Aurora (ice) or Storm (lightning). She precedes both.

Her collection: NOIR / ORIGIN

If the VOSSA world has an Aurora and a Storm, Raven is what existed before either weather system arrived. She is the ground state.

Possible narrative beats for her collection:

Beat	Line
Cold Open	Before the storm had a name, she was already watching.
Identity Lock	She didn't become dangerous. She was built that way.
Inciting Fracture	The thing that changed everything wasn't done to her — she did it first.
Covenant	She made one promise. It was to herself. She has never broken it.
Engine Room	What drives her is not ambition. It is memory with teeth.
Controlled Escalation	Three warnings. She gave two.
Signature Moment	The room went quiet when she walked in. Not from fear. From recognition.
Twist Payload	The origin of the others was not coincidence.
Final Lock	She was the first. That means she will be the last.

SYSTEM NOTES • WHAT HER EXISTENCE MEANS

On reconstruction cost: Raven was the character that required the most effort to hold stable across sessions and schema changes before the ledger system existed. This is not backstory flavor — this is operational truth that feeds directly into her character mythology.

On being the origin: Her narrative role as “the one who generated the others” is structural, not poetic. In the production architecture, the other characters (Isolde, Calista, and by extension the extended roster) trace their anchor discipline back to the work done to hold Raven stable. She is the proof of concept that justified building the system.

On her SBID being SB_330: BATCH-002 opens with her. Not alphabetically. Not by seniority. Because the system assigns its first clean slot to the character that earned it. That choice is canonical.

OPEN QUESTIONS · FOR BACKSTORY SESSION

These are unresolved threads worth addressing as you build:

1. What did she lose? The lean athletic frame and noir baseline suggest someone who has been through something physical. What was the inciting fracture in her actual story?
2. What is her relationship to the other Voss women? Calista is storm. Isolde is ice. Raven precedes both. Are they related by blood, by circumstance, or by something the system created?
3. Why the septum ring? It's the most specific detail in her gospel. In the Las Vegas RPG world, that detail means something. What did she decide when she put it in?
4. What does she want in the Feral Gloss Empire world? She's not a side character. She's not the lead drop. She's the origin. What does the origin character want inside a world of hotels, gambling, and danger?
5. What does her direct gaze cost her? She never looks away. That is a choice, not a default. Every character who never looks away is paying something for it.
